Calvary Baptist calls the Rev. Ayers as pastor

The Rev. John Ayers, former pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, Barnwell, S. C., has been called to serve the Calvary Baptist Church of Statesboro. The announcement is made this week by the officials of the local church.

Rev. Ayers is a native of Georgia, born in Atlanta on January 3, 1930. Several years later his parents and family moved to Pinecastle, Fla.

Rev. Ayers was baptized at the Woodland Hills Baptist Church in May, 1949. He remained an active member of this church until he was called to the ministry and enrolled at the Truett-McConnell Junior College in Cleveland, Ga. He completed the two-year course there in March, 1951. While there he was active in the religious activities on the campus, being the first president of the "Torchbearers," a student mission organization. It was while he was here that he helped organize a mission in Hiwassee, Ga., and in February, 1951, he was called as pastor of the Bell Creek Baptist Church in Hiwassee.

In March of that year Rev. Ayers was ordained into the ministry at Woodland Hills Baptist Church.

After leaving Bell Creek Church he engaged in revival and supply work until he was called as pastor to the Haygood Avenue Mission in Barnwell, S. C. While here the mission grew from an average attendance of 10 to more than 200. There were 23 additions to the church during this time.

From Haygood Avenue Mission Rev. Ayers was called to pastor the newly organized Calvary Baptist Church in Barnwell with a charter membership of 61. During the first year 73 new members joined the church. 65 converts were given into the new church during the 16 months of Rev. Ayers' ministry. While there the church launched a building program including a Sunday school building to house 150 people. When Rev. Ayers left the church all its financial obligations were eliminated and it was in a well-organized condition.

Rev. Ayers and his wife have three children, two boys and a girl. They are now residing at 44 North College street. He invites anyone desiring pastoral counseling, or assistance in any way that he can be of help to contact him at his home or at Calvary Baptist Church on West Main street.

Books are carried for both adults and children. Meet the bookmobile in your home community and borrow books for both pleasure and information.

Beasley family hold reunion

Members of the Beasley family will gather at "Red Haven" near Lower Mill Creek Church on Monday, July 1, for a big family reunion. All relatives and friends of members of the Beasley family are invited. "Ice tea, plates, and items will be furnished... you can bring a basket dinner," the reunion officials state. "We are trying to compile a history of the family back to David and Rebecca Beasley and further back than then, if we can," they said. All are urged to come early.

ODELL BRAGAN WELSEY "BEE" CARROLL CHARLTON MOSELEY
THEY'RE AT BOY'S STATE being held at Georgia Tech in Atlanta. These are three of Bulloch county's outstanding students selected by the Dexter Allen Post No. 90 of the American Legion. Odell Bragan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Bragan, RFD 1, Brooklet, and a graduate of Nevils High School. Welsey "Bee" Carroll is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carroll, and graduated from Statesboro High School. Charlton Moseley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Moseley of RFD 3, Statesboro and a senior at the Laboratory High School. They were selected by the local post of the Legion on the basis of their scholastic standing and leadership qualifications.

Sue Whaley is named First Dist. F. B. Queen

Bulloch county entries took top places in the First District Farm Bureau Queen and Talent Contest held at Marlow Friday night at the Marlow High School auditorium. Runnerup winners were from Evans and Emanuel counties.

Miss Sue Ann Whaley, black-haired and dark-eyed petite beauty, representing the Warnock community Farm Bureau, was a close winner over Miss Irma Lee Smith, blonde, blue-eyed farm queen from the Stillmore section of Emanuel county. She was presented a loving cup and a gift from the Georgia Cotton Manufacturers Association.

Miss Whaley, competing with queens from eight counties, was judged on written reports, personal interviews with the judges and stage appearance and talents. She received a rousing ovation from the auditorium-packed crowd as she sang two numbers.

Recently Miss Whaley was declared the winner of the Turner E. Smith Award for the most outstanding Future Homemaker of America in Bulloch county. She is an outstanding student at the Laboratory High School.

Lewis Hendrix and his sister, Kay Ann, representing the Brooklet Farm Bureau, were declared the district winners in the Talent Contest, doing a song and dance act. They had just won the Southeast District 4-H Club achievement meeting in Tifton. They are natural entertainers and have appeared at many meetings in the county. They received cash prizes.

Mrs. William Cromley of Brooklet played the piano accompaniment for Miss Whaley and Kay Ann and Lewis. These district winners will appear at the state Farm Bureau meeting in Augusta in November to compete for state honors. Walton Usher of Guyton gave the welcome address and Mrs. Willett Robinson of Dover made the response. The Effingham Farm Bureau presented special entertainment during the evening.

Z. L. Strange, postmaster at TC, is honored by editors of Reflector

One of the first things Georgia Teachers College students learn is that there's nothing at all strange about the Collegeboro post office.

And although some punning new students might jokingly meet differently, when they meet the postmaster, Zack L. Strange Sr., they find that he is the un-strange, jovial, friendly, philosophizing pal and adviser to practically every student on the campus.

For 19 years he has been "mailman" to the thousands of students who have come and students who have gone and in that time he has been much more to most of them. And now, with a large opening summer school enrollment—mostly former students and graduates back for re-fresher work—the post office often looks like "old home

Rainfall for the same period was 0.12 inches.

Pete Donaldson to speak here

Geo. P. (Pete) Donaldson will be guest speaker at the First Baptist Church here Sunday at both morning and evening services.

A native of Statesboro, Pete Donaldson is president of Abraham Baldwin College at Tifton. He is past district governor of Rotary and is active in church and civic affairs in Georgia.

Mr. Donaldson served for a long time as general superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday School here, before he moved to Tifton.

The public is invited to join the membership at First Baptist, Sunday for two services. Dr. Leslie Williams, who has accepted the call to First Baptist Church here, will assume his duties the first Sunday in July and Mr. Donaldson will be the last of the guest speakers who have been filling the pulpit at First Baptist for the past two months.

District champions in 4-H projects are being chosen this year on the basis of 60 per cent for demonstrations and 40 per cent for record books.

He responded with characteristic gratitude to the dedication.

"It is with a heart full of humility and appreciation that I acknowledge this honor," he said. "It has been a unique privilege and pleasure serving the faculty and students of GTC for 19 years. I bow in gratitude to them for the fine cooperation and encouragement and the expressions of appreciation they have given me. All this, together with their wit, wisdom and fine personalities, has made life one sweet song of service for me."

Bulloch Herald wins in NEA '54 Better Newspaper Contest

The Bulloch Herald was awarded second place for excellence in typography in the National Editorial Association Better Newspaper Contests for 1954 at the NEA convention in Baltimore on Friday evening, June 18.

The plaque, representing the second place award, was presented by the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, and was received on behalf of Leodel Coleman, editor of the Bulloch Herald, by Mrs. Hugh Saxon, publisher of the Louisville, Ga. News and Farmer.

The Bulloch Herald was one of 106 winners chosen from a total of 1,420 entries from 43 States in the nation. The committee of judges included Professor John E. Stempel, chairman, department of journalism, Indiana University; Dr. Fred Siebert, director, School of Journalism, University of Illinois; Fred Asdel, Jr., manager, Chicago Agency Mergenthaler Linotype Company; Dwight Bannister, Extension Service, Iowa State College; J. H. Curtis, S. James, Minnesota Plaindealer; Carl Zielke, manager, Wisconsin Press Association; Victor Blueborn, executive secretary, Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity; and Sterling Eaton, Plymouth, Michigan, Mail.

The judging was based on the selection and effective use of head dress, body dress, advertising typography, selection and effective use of type faces, illustrations, borders, ornaments, and other units; general makeup and presswork.

The Clarion of Naperville, Illinois, was the first place winner, and the Grant County Independent of Lancaster, Wisconsin was the third place winner.

In 1951 the Bulloch Herald was awarded an Honorable Mention by the National Editorial Association for "general excellence" in competition with newspapers all over the nation. In addition to these two national awards the Bulloch Herald, since 1940, has won 18 awards in the Georgia Press Association, including nine first place awards, four second place awards, four third place awards, and one honorable mention.

The convention began in Baltimore on June 17 and ended June 19. More than 500 delegates attended representing the nation's 5,200 weekly newspapers.

Little Theatre to present 'Gaslight'

The Statesboro Little Theatre will present "Gaslight," a Victorian thriller play in three acts on Wednesday evening, June 30, at the college auditorium at 8:15 o'clock.

The play, the first of its kind to be presented by the Little Theatre group, was a smash hit on the Broadway stage. The author tells a story of the Mannings of Angel street. When the curtain rises, all appears to be quiet and peaceful. But it soon becomes apparent that Mr. Manning, played by Bernard Morris, is slowly torturing his gentle and lovely wife, played by Mrs. Jimmy Gunter, into insanity. While her husband is out she has an unexpected caller, Sergeant Rough, played by Bob Winburn Jr. He restores her confidence in herself and they begin to build up evidence against Mr. Manningham. The secret of the dimming gaslight and the mystery of the hidden rubies will be revealed at the performance June 30.

Admission is fifty cents for all tickets, regardless of age. They may be secured from any member of the group which includes: Mrs. Buford Knight, Mrs. Lazelle Storey, Bill Holway, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gunter, Dean Baxter, Henry McCormick, Al Sutherland, Joe Neville, Bee Carroll, Levell Akins, Mrs. Phil Hamilton, Julie Allen, Victoria Wilson, Freida Gernant, Dub Lovett, Mrs. Frederick Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Winburn Jr., Betty Lovett, Nancy Stubbs, George Johnston, Mrs. J. O. Johnston, Mrs. G. H. Byrd, Margaret Williams, Mrs. Billy Olliff, Mrs. Frank Mikell, Mrs. Bob Pound, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Morris, Marie Wood, Dot Brannen, Parrish Blitch, June Carr, Dr. Fielding Russell, Mrs. Bill Bowen and Mrs. Virgil Agan.

JOSIAH WILLIAMS FAMILY REUNION IS JULY 4

The Josiah Williams family reunion will be held Sunday, July 4, 1954, at Dasher's on Highway 80 between Statesboro and Savannah. All relatives and close friends are invited and asked to bring a basket lunch. Dinner will be served about 1 p. m. We shall also honor George Williams who will celebrate his 82nd birthday on July 4.

Georgia's rural women last year made improvements in their homes which have an estimated value of $84,000.

JUNE CARR

Miss June Carr is 'Miss Antebellum Queen'

Miss June Carr of Statesboro, a shapely, brown-eyed brunette, Saturday night was crowned "Miss Antebellum Queen" of the American Legion first district before a packed house at Savannah Post 135.

The 18-year-old beauty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit R. Carr of Statesboro. She was sponsored in the contest by the Statesboro Post 90. Miss Lenora Tillman, 20, of Claxton, a University of Georgia student, placed second and Miss Marilyn Elmore, 16-year-old student at St. Vincent's Academy, was third place choice of the judges.

Winning the title gives Miss Carr the opportunity of competing in the state finals for the crown of "Miss Antebellum of Georgia." The contest will be held in Augusta July 17.

Eight beauties from Savannah and outlying towns competed for the title. They were judged for beauty, poise and personality.

Miss Tillman represented Claxton Post 60 and Miss Elmore was entered by Savannah Post 135.

Competition was keen among the eight entrants and the judges' decision was well received by the audience.

Miss Carr tied last year for first place in the district contest. Miss Elmore recently was chosen "Miss Coastal Empire."

Miss Carr will compete for the state title with beauties from the nine other districts in Georgia. The winner will ride at the head of the Georgia delegation in parade during the national convention in August at Washington, D. C.

Neal A. Shaw dies at age of 100; moved here at 40

Funeral services for Neal A. Shaw, who died Friday, June 18, were conducted at 3 p. m. Sunday at Calvary Baptist Church. Burial was in Middle-ground Primitive Baptist Church cemetery.

Shaw, 100, was one of Bulloch County's oldest citizens. The native of Southern Pines, N. C., moved to Bulloch county about 60 years ago.

Survivors are three sons, John, Gordon and Charlie Shaw, Statesboro; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Palbearers named were Johnny Shaw, Gilbert Shaw, Bert Smith and Henry Smith. Barnes Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Congressman Prince H. Preston this week pledged himself to an all out fight against a move by confectioners' interests and eastern congressmen to eliminate peanuts from the list of basic commodities for price supports.

It is anticipated that an amendment to eliminate peanuts from the basic list will be offered to the 1955 farm bill, now in committee, when it comes before the House for action. Confectioners who use quantities of peanuts in the manufacture of candy, peanuts and similar products have initiated the hostile move against peanut growers, Mr. Preston revealed, and these interests are being supported by Republican congressmen.

The removal of peanuts from the list of basic commodities would leave the support price to the discretion of the secretary of agriculture, instead of at 90 per cent of parity as it is a present.

The controversial farm bill is expected to come before the House in late June or early July. The present support law expires in January and President Eisenhower has requested that a flexible price support law, ranging down to 75 per cent of parity, be substituted for the present 90 per cent supports on peanuts, cotton, tobacco, wheat and other basic farm products.

"The move to eliminate peanuts from the list of basic commodities is the beginning of efforts by hostile interests to strip supports from all farm products," the First District representative predicted.

Preston is a leader of southern congressmen who will meet with spokesmen for peanut producers in Washington soon to map plans to defeat this effort to remove peanuts from the list of basic commodities.

"The removal of peanuts from rigid price supports would doom our thousands of peanut farmers," Preston states, "and threaten the entire price structure upon which our national prosperity so largely depends. Our farmers are already enduring grave economic hardships and this brazen attack on peanut prices is the opening shot in an all out war against southern farmers."

"I will fight against this sabotage of peanut price supports with every resource at my command," Preston emphasized.

The First District congressman is a member of the powerful Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives.

July 3 is set to qualify

John D. Lanier, chairman of the Bulloch County Democratic Executive Committee, announced this week that the deadline for qualifying in the election to be held to name two Bulloch county representatives in the Georgia Legislature has been set for Saturday, July 3, at 12 o'clock noon. The qualifying fee was set at $75. He announced that only one candidate had qualified at noon on Tuesday of this week. The Rev. W. L. Huggins has qualified for the vacancy left by the death of A. J. Trappell.

Brooklet and Leefield Baptist Vacation Bible Schools close

By Mrs. John A. Robertson

The Vacation Bible School of Brooklet and Leefield Baptist Church closed Sunday night with graduation exercises. The school had been in progress for two weeks, each morning from 9 to 11 o'clock. All sessions were held in the Brooklet Baptist Church. A general picnic was held last Friday afternoon at the Recreation Center in Statesboro.

At the exercises Sunday night the first part of the service was a worship service in which all the pupils of the school participated.

Following the worship service the pupils in each department rendered a service program and at the close of each number the superintendents of each department awarded the certificates to each pupil in her department. Mrs. Hamp Smith, principal of the school, awarded a certificate to Rev. C. L. Goss, general superintendent of the school and he then presented certificates to the superintendents of all departments and students of all departments and workers and helpers in the school. Rev. Goss then invited the entire congregation to inspect the national building.

Mrs. J. M. Williams received a message during the week-end of the death of her nephew, Lester Holland, which occurred at his home in Charleston, S. C. following a heart attack. He is survived by his wife and two small children of Charleston, and a number of other relatives in Savannah and Bulloch County. Funeral services and interment were in Charleston.

Mrs. W. B. Parrish, Mrs. John McCormick and Mrs. Jesse Goss are attending classes at the new business school which is being conducted in Statesboro.

Mrs. F. C. Rozier of Waycross is visiting relatives here.

Bulloch County

Farm Bureau

NEVILS AND REGISTER

The Nevils and Register Farm Bureaus discussed tobacco problems Wednesday and Thursday night, respectively, at their regular meetings.

Samples of tobacco that had wilted down and burned were sent to Dr. J. G. Gaines, disease specialist and research worker at the Coastal Plain Experiment Station. Dr. Gaines stated that there was a little evidence of chlorine damage but that the major problem was the dry weather that had purely scalded the tobacco and then it burned. However, some of the larger brown spots that were coming out of the leaves were caused by blue mold that hit tobacco in the fields all over the county during May when the weather stayed below 70 degrees so much of the time.

Some of the small tobacco from irrigated fields probably had most of the fertilizer washed out of the soil before the plants were large enough to take it up, he stated. Dr. Gaines expressed the belief that many farmers put too much water on their small tobacco plants early and probably not enough as the tobacco got older and where it could take up the fertilizer.

Ample water needs to be put on when irrigating to take care of the loss from evaporation as well as other causes, he said. Less water seems to evaporate.

ALL'S FAIR

By JANE

Chantilly lace and tulle and... Tables overlaid with cut-work lace... And everyone a-dither to keep up with the pace.

If they aren't singing "Because" and "I Love Thee" it's "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "O Promise Me". It may seem lots of bother, but folks, it's all worth while. Even though the mothers are tired and a tear goes along with that tremulous smile.

Remember for the bride, it's the essence of romance, and the groom's her shining knight. Every flower blooms for her only and the future seems rosy and bright. She studies no statistics, she's untroubled by the weather. Her face is a glow and her heart, light as a feather. She's beloved, she's beautiful! She'll have many shining hours. That to her mean more than life, or old time wedding dowers.

And as for the gown, shimmering and lovely, she may reserve it for the day when her own precious daughter promises to "love and obey."

THE HAL MACON JR. and Hal, the Third, are coming back to Statesboro from Marion, N. C., where they operated a drive-in theatre for a little over a year. North, west, Statesboro's best and we welcome Hal Jr., Claire and young Hal III home.

PROUD OF OUR GIRLS! Sure we are. For instance, there's Martha and Claudia, Tinker, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tinker, who reside on Pine drive. These girls are just back from the Episcopal Camp Reese at St. Simon. There were fifty boys and girls from the diocese of Georgia at tending the camp. Martha Tinker was voted the prettiest and Claudia, the nearest. This week, Martha is in Marion attending numerous parties given for her cousin, Elita Reese Tinker, who will marry Bob Sheffield of Virginia. Claudia, an attendant in the wedding, both Martha and Claudia have been appointed assistant editors on the youth page of the "Church in Georgia."

JUNE, BEAUTY, AND LOVE are all wrapped up in one girl here in Statesboro as June Carr, shapely brunette, was crowned Saturday night "Miss Antebellum Queen" of the American Legion First District before a packed house at Savannah Post 135. June was sponsored in the contest by the Statesboro Post 90. This title put June in competition with the other beauties for the title of "Miss Antebellum of Georgia" in the contest which will be held in Augusta July 17. The winner of this contest will ride at the head of the Georgia delegation in parade during the national convention in August at Washington, D. C. In the meantime June will be the queen in her own June wedding as she wed Bob Weber June 27.

DOX THOMPSON was ready for the Statesboro girls, University of Georgia grads, as they walked back with their diplomas in hand. Seated at the strategic spot, his powerful camera lens focused on his daughter, Donell, as she walked away from the platform much to his surprise, he noted that she had discarded her shoes. Swinging his camera in Cinema Scope style he discovered that more than fifty per cent of the girls were barefooted.

THIS STATEMENT appeared in the Agnes Scott Paper: "Genevieve Guardia is the cut with his son and Mrs.

youngest Phi Beta Kappa, in Georgia, in the United States, is also the youngest student to graduate from Agnes Scott."

DON'T MUDDY THE WATER! That was the admonition light Lanier gave the boys in his Sunday School class who were being entertained by Mr. Lanier, their teacher, when Joe Olliff lost his glasses while he was fishing near the banks of the Ogeechee River. A big bit of Young Olliff on the back of his neck—and whom! he slapped at the offender and at the same time knocked his glasses off and into the river where they went. Joe has to wear some special type of specks. Naturally, he was lost without them. A searching party of divers were lining up, but Mr. Lanier intervened. "It's dark now, Don't muddy the water. Note the place and we can come back tomorrow. So that diving here, Brooks Waters and others, including Joe Olliff Jr., were out diving apparatus all rigged up. A flash light turned on and placed in a sealed fruit jar furnished light. Down he went under the water. They say Brooks can stay under water longer than anyone else. At any rate Brooks brought the glasses up. He dismissed all praise with a wave of the hand. Said he, "I wasn't anything to brag about. A small bit of the glasses showed up between two rocks over-lapping. Good work. Quick thinking."

COUSIN GEORGE and Cousin Franklin, up Boston Way, should have been present. George, who has been present at the home of Mrs. E. W. Rogers, a prolonged kiss following the ceremony. That family tree drawn up by Cousin George has made H. V. do some serious thinking along the branch of the tree on which his name is written.

OUR JUDGE, John L. Renfro, is visiting up in Connecticut with his son and Mrs.

The whole world rode a mile... in Safety...

on the Central!

In the past ten years, Central of Georgia Railway has carried its patrons a total of more than 2,500,000,000 passenger miles—without a single fatality. That's the equivalent of riding every man, woman, and child in the entire world one mile in perfect safety!

A significant fact—when you consider that, in 1953 alone, the State of Georgia recorded 902 traffic fatalities... one every nine hours and 47 minutes.

Safety is a tradition on Central of Georgia—and so are comfort and economy. All the family can relax... enjoy the spaciousness of modern, smooth-riding coaches... as your deisel-powered Central streamliner speeds you to your destination.
